

EPOCH – The Urban Haat'

MET's Bhujbal Knowledge City Students of MBA-I year have organized an activity EPOCH – The Urban Haat' under which students undergo through the process of development of the product. This activity is a part of teaching and learning process for students in which they explore their entrepreneurship skills and managerial skills. The product made by students this year were made out of waster like wall clocks and wall hangings made of electronic waste, mobile charging point made out of plastic waste, hand bags costars and hand purse made out of paper and cloth waste , show piece made out of coconut water etc.

