Social Welfare cell of MET'S Institute of Pharmacy Had organized a guest lecture by Hon. Uttamji Kamble, Chief Editor of Sakal Media group and a renowned social worker on Thursday 26th March 2015.

In his typical lively and interactive talk with students as well as staff members Uttamji almost hypnotized the audience for almost two hours. Uttamji exemplifies the reasons for social contribution and emphasized that humans are different from all other animals on the earth and cannot live in isolation. We are very much dependent on every group of society for variety of reasons. Every successful person should contribute to the society because it is this society who appreciates our success; it is the same society who stands behind us. We all should contribute for the development of the society.

Uttamji Kamble shared his experiences and convinced everybody the fact that each social contribution results in a rebound rewards and growth of the individuals. He also described the diversity of the Indian society which constitutes of some extremely blessed and fortunate peoples who have all resources for living a luxurious life; at the same time majority of the peoples struggle for fundamental needs and mentioned the need to bridge this gap between these two extremes of the society.

Representatives from HR office, Trust office and HOI, and staff members from all Institutes of Bhujbal Knowledge City were present for the lecture and all were overwhelmed with the experiences and examples shared by Uttamji.At the end of his session, Uttamji answered questions from students and had a free interaction for some time which goes on to tell the success of his thoughts insights and suggestions which will definitely help for the personality development of the students as well as staff of Bhujbal Knowledge City.
